ITALY - Giuseppe

The rubamazzetto or rubamazzo is a card game, very popular in Italy. Played with Italian playing cards of 40 cards divided into 4 suits of 10 cards each. It is often played by only 2 people but it can also be played by 3 and 4. Each player in the respective turn can only take a card of the same value from the table (for example if in hand he has a King of Coins from the ground (from table) can only take another king). Each time a trick is made, the player must keep the last card of his deck face up; if the opponent has one of the same value in his hand, he can "steal" his deck (which must always be kept turned upside down). If the card on the table is the same as the opponent's deck, you take the one you prefer.
